Plenary Speaker

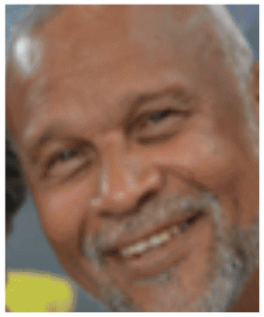

Joanne Davie grew up as a pastor's child in a home where her parents had a heart for Missions and reaching the lost.
In 2009, Joanne joined Operation Mobilisation (OM) and moved to North Africa. She served in Sudan at a rehabilitation centre for street boys , she moved to Libya, where she spent six memorable years teaching Mathematics at a high school. In 2019, Joanne completed a Master's degree in Intercultural Studies at Wheaton College in the United States. On returning to South Africa, she joined OM South Africa as Field Training Officer,
Joanne serves as a part-time lecturer in Missions at the Baptist Theological College in Johannesburg.
She longs to see the next generation of Christian leaders develop a biblical understanding of God's heart for the nations and an awareness of the realities of the world today.
